Golf Course

Crooked Creek is named for the angling creek that winds through the 180 acre tract . The long par 5 thirteenth is the most testing hole on the course. The second shot requires you to carry the creek that angles across the fairway and negotiate an opening in the trees. The thirteenth's dome shaped green is difficult to hit and tricky to putt.

The course contains water in the form of creeks and ponds that come into play on eleven of the eighteen holes.

There are five sets of tees to allow each tournament the selection to best suit their players.
